

10 Reasons to become a Consultant

1. To earn Money! Consultant's profit is 25% of their customer sales plus a $50 volume bonus for every $500 sold over $1000. PLUS New Consultants earn awards & gifts on each week of sales of $550 or more in their first 13 weeks of business. A Consultant holding two average parties per week can easily earn $1300+ per month just starting their business on a part time basis. The earning potential is unlimited.
2. To become their own Boss! Many self-employed people love the fact that there is no one that tells them what, when, and how they must do something. Consultants can choose what level they wish to work at and what facet of the business they want to participate in, parties, direct sales, fundraising, or Internet sales.
3. To earn Gifts and awards! Anything from a free product to Diamond rings, a trip to Hawaii, or the title to a new car can be earned as awards for sales and team building.
4. The Flexibility! Consultants can choose when they wish to work and fit their business around their family and life's activities, even a month long vacation is easy to arrange.
5. For the Recognition of achievements! Tupperware offers the very unusual experience of being recognized for all personal accomplishments.
6. To be able to buy Tupperware products at a discount! Every Consultant can purchase New or existing products at wholesale costs and be the first to take advantage of all the great sales and offers. A Consultant can purchase 50% off sales and get a further 25% discount on many product lines through the sales brochures.
7. For personal growth and development! Many Consultants experience increased abilities and self esteem through the skills and leadership training they learn being a Consultant or Manager. Often they become accomplished speakers and trainers and at higher career levels become outstanding team leaders. The positive experience extends to their personal and family life as well as their business life.
8. To make important friendships! Most Consultants during the course of business make friendships that last a lifetime. People who have been in Tupperware for just a few years count some of their best friends from the people they have met in their business.
9. A business start with little capital investment! New Consultants are able to start their own business for as little as $146 plus PST and are usually able to recover that from the profits of their first party. No inventory to purchase, Consultants do not order product until they have been paid in full and their profit is realized as soon as they make a sale.
10. For the simplicity of having their own business! Unlike other business there are no government licenses, bonds, insurance polices, PST and GST remittances to worry about. All of the business complexities are taken care of by Tupperware.
